DESCRIPTION    The myth tells us that Venus was born from the foam of the sea and was then pushed ashore by a gentle breeze, lying on a beautiful shell. But today, that shell goes much further: it enters our homes thanks to LaVenus, the first lounge chair signed Ginori 1735. A seat made of flexible, cold-foamed polyurethane with metal inserts, fire retardant class A1, installed on a gold-plated steel frame.

DESCRIPTION    A table lamp crafted using a combination of porcelain, metal, and Murano crystal that has been hand-blown. It points skyward with its light, dressing up in gold and silver.
